have to import all preferences, too.

As an alternative:
The workbench preferences (colors, fonts etc.) are stored in your workspace in:
metadata/.plugins/org.eclipse.core.runtime/.settings/org.ecl ipse.ui.workbench.prefs

You can compare the Ubuntu version of this file with the Windows one and merge the color changes.

Axel

Before you ask
- search this forum
- see the FAQ http://wiki.eclipse.org/CDT/User/FAQ
- google

Report message to a moderator

Re: how to export color settings [message #230035 is a reply to message #230006]Thu, 05 February 2009 08:52
Vincent
Messages: 8   Junior Member
Registered: July 2009
thanks! Axel
it's a great help for me

Report message to a moderator

Goto Forum:

Previous Topic: New keyword addition for language similar to C++
Next Topic: multiple configurations.

C / C++ IDE (CDT)   ▼   Go

-=] Back to Top [=-
[Syndicate this forum (XML)] [🔲]

Current Time: Tue Sep 01 22:56:59 GMT 2015

Powered by FUDForum. Page generated in 0.01663 seconds

.:: Contact :: Home ::.

Powered by: FUDforum 3.0.2.
Copyright ©2001-2010 FUDforum Bulletin Board Software

Back to the top

Eclipse Foundation

- About us
- Contact Us
- Donate
- Governance
- Logo and Artwork
- Board of Directors